brought up by a clergyman, who taught him to play on the organ, but the young man in the course of time, made a pianoforte for himself, of considerably greater power then that of ordinary instuments. He enjoys excellent health, and, with the exception of the hands, presents nothing strange in his person. It is only from the elbow that the malformation commences. The arm there divides into two limbs, each ending in a hand with a double supply of fingers These additional arms are regularly made, and the only remarkable point observed by med. ical men is the immense developement of the deltoid muscle at the guarmit of the shoulder. The elergyman who had brought up Roltz, at his death left hun his small property, and the young man immediately purchased diamond rings with which he loaded his twenty fingers, It was with them so adorned that he performed before the Emperor of Russia, who expressed his surprise at the musical powers of the young man. Aultz, it is said, is shortly to visit Paris.

Surrosen Windfaul. - Quite an in. terest has recently been excited in Cunden and Gloucester, N. J., among the families of Lippincots, Prices. Filmaegans, and Borrough's, in consequence of the discovery, as they suppase, that they are the legal heirs of one William Jennings, of Acton Place, London, who died intestate in 1793, leaving an immense estate, in consuls, local sticks, annuities, bank deposits, &c. valued according to a statement made by the British authorities, to £8,000,000, or $40,000,000. In addition to which there is an iron chest deposited with a Loadon banking house, and which has not yet been opened, said to contain plate, &c., of great value. The several claimants have united and empowered Mr. J. B. Paice, of Philadelphia, their agent, who has been in London for some months, acting in concert with alle agent state, that the British authorities acknowledge the title to be vested in American heirs; they are therefore in confident expectation of being able to make out the case. The claimants have organized, and appointed J. W. Cooper, Esq., President, and Henry Custic, Esq. Secretary.

Love is a Mystery.-Its origin is a myst-ry; its essence is a mystery; ev ery pulsation of its being is mysterious and it is aware that it cannot break the shell, and penetrate the mystery without destroying both itself and the object. For the cloud which is so beautiful in the distance, when the sunbouns are sleeping on its pillow, it you go too near and enter it, is only dank and dun : you find nothing, you learn nothing, except that you have been tricked. Often have we been told that love palls after fruition; and this is the reason. When it has plucked off its teathers for the sake of staring at them, it can never sew them on again; when it is swinish, it is in a double sense guilty of suicide. Its divelling is like that of the Indian god on the lotus, upon the bosom of Beauty, rising out from the playful waters of feeling which cannot be fixed; and it cannot turn up the lotus to look under it, without oversetting and drowning itself; it cannot tear up its root, to plant is on the firm ground of scientific convicuon, but it withers and dies. Such as live wisely, then, cherish the mystery, val handle the blossom deficately and charily; for so only will it retain its amaranthine beauty .- Guesses at Truth.

THE RESCUE ARRIVED.—The consortie Advance—her companion in the Arctic searching expedition—which part-of company off the Backs of New found-land, and whose arrival has been expecsed for some days, made the harbor this k renoon, and is now moored at the navy yard, at Brooklyn. It is understood that yard, an Brossyn. It is understood that one of her efficers has prepared a minute necessary of the joint voyage, which we inticipate being able to lay before our readers.—Com. By a dispatch from Picton, received . st evening by the Collector of C's po t, from B. Hammett Norton, U. S. Cosminat that port, we learn that the sorth-east coast has been swept by a terrible and destructive gale, and that to hundred fishing vessels were ashore an the north side of Prince Edward's La 1.5.1. It is estimated that three handren persons have perished in the wrecks, and many bodies have already doffied ashore. The La Fayette was to leave Chag-res at 3 P. M. for San Juan, when with-na few misutes of the hour for leaving and "all on board." Mr. Smith the chief agineer, upon entering the oil room, abserved a barrel of lubricating oil on re, and immediately gave the alarm.— lvery effort was made to extinguish but in an instant the entire room was a blaze, which soon communicated to re salone, and in a tery minutes there urst forth a volume of flame which it me found impossible to subdue.

The lire being in the vicinity of the agazine, the cry of "powder and the agazine," was raised, and consternaon and dismay was pictured in every unitenance. A great rush was made if the boots, and in the haste Mr. Ausof the boats, and in the heate Mr. Ave-o, of San Juan, and Mrs. Carter, the swardess, were precipitated into the rater, from which, however, they wese sawed without any serious injury.— Ir. Comstack, the purser, Mr. J. W. mith, second afficer, Mr. G. R. Hoyt, i Berford & Co.'s express, rushed wough the finnes, entered the maggine ad came on deck, to the great delight of those on board, with the powder, those on board, with the powder, dich amid cheering was thrown over-bard; the crew and others returned nd gave battle to the fiery element, but previous anding the abuses superhonem certion of Carit. Stoddard. his afficers ed crew, destruction was inevitable.

The fire continued to rage with great fay—the flames, now extending the thole length of her deck—and there being not the slightest prospect of accessing the progress, the captain ordered every person to leave the ship. They sprang to the boats and were rowed some distace from her-fearful her boilers might She appeared to be described. he thought no person was on her decks: Again we looked and observed a man descending by a rope the side of the vissel—"It is Capt. Steddard," we should, and so it was. He was the last mus to leave the ship and abandon her to the flames.

Too much praise cannot be awarded to the officers of the vessel, who used every exertion to save her. Mr. Alber, the first officer, is entitled to great praise the first officer, is entitled to great praise for his firamess, daring and activity, who, when ordered by the captain to leave the ship, replied, "Not until you are ready to follow, captain." Also the second officer, J. W. Smith, who, in constoyt, rushed through the flames to the magazine and saved the pawder, whereby an explosion was averted, which would certainly have caused a great less would certainly have caused a great less would certainly have enused a great loss

The fire increased with such rapidity as to preclude the possibility of saving the property belonging to the ship.— Nothing of any consequence was saved Strengous efforts were made by Mr. Hoyl and others to save the specie, but without success; they were foiled in the attempt by the flames and smoke. The personal property of Capt. S.; including his chronometer, was lost; in fact every officer of the ill-lated vessel lost all or nearly all their personal effects. Capt. Stoddard, J. D. Comstock, the purser, J. W. Smith, second officer, Mr. Bowditch, Mr. Hoyt, and the stewardusz, saved only what they stood in. Mr.

Bowditch had in charge $4,000 worth of freight, belonging to Palmer & Cole. Express, nothing of which was saved. It is impossible for us to tell or even canjecture it what way the fire originative contents of the contents ted. An attempt was made to get her upon the shoals, at Navy Bay, with a view of saving her machinery. The steamboat Gorgona had her in tow, but she burned to the water's edge and sunk in fourteen or fifteen fatherms wat-er, before arriving there. A TAMMANY Scene.-At a meeting of the Democratic party of New York at Tananany Hall, on Monday night, the tollowing little speechification is reportcollowing intre specenarianing is reported to have taken place:

Capt. Rynders rose, and was glad to see that extremes had met at last; they had come together on principle, on the old-inshioned principles of the Demo-cratic party. He was happy to know that the State ticket had been approved to-night; it would not please everybody; no ticket could; but it was a good ticket.

Voice with a thick brogue.—Is that spacine ye'er spakin' the truth. Captin. Capt. Rynders.-My friend, if you ave been an attentive reader of the Scriptures, you must have learned that the truth is not to be spoken at all times. I speak as much truth as I find convenient; sometimes more, sometimes less, sometimes none at all, and sometimes the whole truth, and more too.

His Principles .- "Feller citizens," and a stump orator lately in Wisconsin, who was running for a seat in the legislature; "Feder citizens, if you elect rac my opposition to all sorts of banks will be so strong that it will break the true of a hera of bustalnes. Volcations may pour out their lava, reducing cities may pour out their layer reducing times to smouldering cline—earthquites may engulph in the vortex of premature destruction large and popular islande—eathanets may disgorge their aqueous contents, making nature trendle with the continuous effort—the enough stocker may prostrate the nightlest mountains contrained by the combined aid effort and labor—the vivid and glarang flash of lightning may rend the sturdy oak of the treest and make the iron-hearted grake with few; but do you think, to-low-citizens, that all this would make all this would make a te vote in favor of a bank?

Dara clear of it."

IMPORTANT FACTS .- We with pleasure refer our readers to Cond's Patent Graduated Galvanic Battery, advertised in another column.

in another column. The great importance of this instrument is evidently shown, by the numerous inveterate diseases, which are cured by it, in various parts of the United States, attested by many of the most respectable in this country. Its construction is peculiar to itself, and its application to the human hody is totally different from all others of that name; these are facts shown by the most celebrated medical men in the world. Out of numerous antices from such gentleof numerous notices from each gentle-men, we can give here only one, from the Boston Medical and Surgical Jourthe footon whenear and surgical four-nal of September 11th, 1850, and various notices of cores of Paralysis, &c., may be seen in that highly respectable jour-nal, of more recent date, which were ef-fected in Boston by means of this most useful apparatus.

For further information respecting this Instrument see the Medical Cyclopsedia, instrument see the Meiversity of London, the Medical Journals of Ohio, and the pamphilets in the possession of the Patentee, now at his rooms, at the United States Hotel, Newport.

Conal's Patent Graduating Galcanic Batters. By reference to up advertises.

Rattery.—By reference to an advertisement in another purt at the Journal, it will be seen that Mr. P. Coad, from Philadelphia, is in our city, ready to exhibit his inventions and improvements exhibit his inventions and improvements in the Galvanic Battery. The batteries which have generally been in use, in this and other cities, there had a similar name upplied to them (Graduated), though their action has been as different though their action has been as different for a this, as the common electrical cylin-der from the battery which generates he galvanic fluid. Although it is said that they are graduated, yet such is not the fact. It is true, by the sliding of the bundle of rods within the belix, the amount of intensity from the battery can in roast by regulated. It would thus are in part be regulated. It would thus appear to be the magnet which should receive the term "graduated," and not the battery. In the apparatus of Mr. Coad, and the which he has bed letter retent which he has had letters patent and for which he has not steam patch since 1812, the graduation of quantity is regulated in the battery itself—a very decided difference, and important in sev-eral particulars; one of which is, that the expediture of force is only requisite to the amount actually needed in an operation. In the second place, the operator has the galvanic fluid under his perfect control. An individual may mae the poles in his hands, and the fluid may be made to pass through him, in a most delicate manner, or its force by quantity can be so increased, as to de-prive him of life. This apparatus dif-ters from others by the absence of an armature to interrupt the current: with Coad's battery, the fluid is accumulated in a reservoir (the helix,) and from thence traverses a circuit, by means of a wheel breaking the current, which can a when breaking the current, when the be thrown off in quantity to suit the purposes of the operator. It would seem to be a law in galvanism, that intensity and quantity materially differ, which this battery of Coad's will perfectly illustrate. We have seen it in action, and can see that in our opinion it is for more can say, that in our opinion it is for more machine, and it would seem, by the many letters in his possession from the most eminent of the faculty, that it is fully appreciated.

This apparatus is now greatly approved of by many of the medical Pr fessers, who are among the most celebrated in the words, to whom reference will be given, by rancrous highly corpactable practicity? Physichras is various parts of the United States, and by a last of respectable persons who have been cured of inveterate diseases which could not be removed by any other known means. It may here be proper to inform the affilited, and others whom it may concern, that there are numerous worthless instruments colit, which are also called Galvanic Batteries, for medical purposes. These sperious restuments convey the galvanic fluid to the patient, by intrustly, and not by quantity, and therefore generally domach injury to putients.
